Progressive New Age CD Highlights Contemporary Instrumental Harp Guitar Virtuosos

(Tarzana, California, July, 2008) What do Grammy nominee Alex de Grassi, Emmy nominee John Doan and Fingerstyle Guitar Champions Andy McKee, Don Alder and Muriel Anderson have in common?

They all play harp guitar. Some are full-time harp guitarists, while some only dabble, but they – and the rest of the stellar musicians on the new recording Harp Guitar Dreams – represent some of the finest and most creative playing of the contemporary harp guitar on the planet.

They are also considered to be among the most contemplative, sophisticated and emotionally refined guitar composers working today, which is why Harp Guitar Music label founder Gregg Miner asked each to contribute to the new themed album – most of whom created or arranged new music specifically for this unique compilation.

The thirteen tracks include music by the above mentioned, along with Pete Bradshaw, Tim Donahue, Carter Lancaster, Dan LaVoie, Tom Shinness, Jeff Titus, Andy Wahlberg and producer Gregg Miner – all on a staggering, spectacular variety of vintage and modern harp guitars, with multi-strings ranging from 11 to 39!

This gorgeous and moving new harp guitar compilation was specifically designed as an infinite musical experience. Relax during your massage, chill out during your drive, share with friends over dinner, or put on your iPod phones and savor every luscious note. However or wherever it moves you, the artists invite you to share their dreams.

Produced by Gregg Miner exclusively for Harp Guitar Music.
